ABOUT SOMMELIER JUSTINE RECOR

Justine Recor is a Spokane, Washington native who first became interested in the world of wine at just 11 years old, helping her mother label bottles at a tasting room she worked in. She has been part of the hospitality industry since she turned 21 where she began working her way through college to earn her B.S. in Psychology. During her time at Eastern University, her passion for wine was reignited when she took a college wine course, motivating her to move to the Dallas, Texas area to pursue her dream of becoming a Sommelier. After a few years of studying, taking exams, and working as an Assistant General Manager at a local wine bar, Justine completed her Certified Sommelier Exam (Level 2) and moved back to Spokane to raise her son and take on the role of Wine Director at Spokane Restaurant, Luna.

During the Pandemic, Justine shifted from the Court of Master Sommeliers (CMS) to the Wine & Spirits Education Trust (WSET) so she could attend classes online, and quickly completed her Diploma Certification (Level 4). She has since switched back to the CMS and has exams planned to complete her Advanced Certification this year with hopes of sitting for the Master Sommelier Exam in 2024.

When Justine isn't studying or training her palette, she loves to spend time with her husband and son. In the summer, her family enjoys camping and attending music festivals. During the colder months, she loves watching movies and looks forward to the Oscars every year - it's her version of the Super Bowl!

Justine claims that this position is the most prestigious job she could hope for without leaving the comfort of the place she loves, and is thrilled to represent one of the largest wine collections in the Pacific Northwest. Getting the opportunity to work with and learn from Sam Lange while he transitions into a new phase of his career has been a great opportunity for her and she looks forward to serving you all soon!
